

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing this letter on behalf of J.R. Thicklin, and his miraculous program that helps spread the knowledge of domestic abuse. The program completely changed my entire aspect of life, my outlook on domestic abuse. There was so much that was said that I would have never of known that was related to domestic abuse, or signs showing someone is in an abusive relationship. We were able to receive information that could be life saving, and definitely made it a life-changing experience.

This program desperately needs funding. The dangers of domestic abuse must be spread throughout to everyone, and with this course it could be done. No one deserves to get abused, no one asks for it. People need to be aware of the dangers of staying in the abusive relationship; we don't need domestic abuse being the number one cause of women's deaths. The sad part about this way of death is it can be avoided, if people are educated.

Please take this letter with vast consideration. If it were not for my experience with this program, I myself would still be in an abusive relationship, not having enough courage to get out. However, I was able to realize that I deserve only the best, and this message needs to be told to women all around. Thank-you, and please have high considerations for properly funding this magnificent program.

Sincerely,
